THE LITTLE THEATRE OF ALEXANDRIA 2025 / 2026 SEASON

4 MUSICALS, 2 PLAYS & A CHRISTMAS CAROL

The Little Theatre

Founded in 1934, The Little Theatre of Alexandria began as a small play-reading group. Full productions ensued, and in 1939 a former blacksmith's shop located in Ramsey Alley was bought for rehearsals and construction of sets and costumes. Early performances were held upstairs at Gadsby's Tavern and recreated life in the 18th century, right down to visits from President and Mrs. Washington.

During the second World War, LTA suspended operations. In times of rationing, theater seemed like a luxury that was best set aside until peace returned. In late 1945, the theatre resumed normal operations. During the 1950s, an empty lot at the corner of Wolfe and St. Asaph Streets became the permanent home of LTA. In 1961, the theatre building was completed, and the first production – Send Me No Flowers – opened on November 18.

Over the years, audience members included a veritable "Who's Who" of Washington. President Harry S. Truman attended on more than one occasion, and notes say that Lynda Bird Johnson even participated as a serving wench! In June 2001, President George W. Bush made LTA his first Washington-area theatrical outing when he came to see his sister-in-law perform in Neil Simon's Proposals.

Since 1934, the theatre has mounted over 500 productions and is the oldest award-winning theater in the Washington metro area, and one of the few community theaters in the country with its own building and ambitious seven-show season. Proud of its rich heritage, LTA is excited about its future.
